Our business concept is to provide modern, effective fire protection.

We offer the widest range of fire safety and rescue products on the market. Everything from fire extinguishers and smoke alarms for the home to complex technical solutions for industry and fire rescue services. As a natural complement to this, we offer advice, planning, installation and training, of course backed up by regular maintenance.

The widest product range on the market

No other supplier on the market has the same width in its range of fire safety and rescue products:
- Fire safety equipment and equipment for safe evacuation, warning signs and first aid equipment.
- Fixed automatic extinguishing systems designed for industrial premises, computer rooms, telecommunication installations, vehicles, etc.
- Rescue equipment for fire and rescue services.

Good fire protection is much more than just red canisters...

Parallel with product sales, we offer a number of services:
- Maintenance, installation and repair.
- Training, with a wide range of courses on fire protection and first aid.
- Consultancy work with risk assessment inspections and fire protection documentation.

30% of the wholesale market

We are the largest and the leading supplier to the fire and rescue services in Sweden. We are also the largest supplier of fixed extinguishing systems in the country. We have installation and service capacity covering the hole of Sweden.

Fire extinguishers and other first-hand fire protection devices are distributed via shops, service partners and other resellers. We have a chain of more than 40 independent fire service companies that offer local service.

Last year our turnover was SEK 330/EUR 35 million, and we have around 160 employees. The company’s head office is in Tyresö, with sales offices in Gothenburg, Katrineholm, Spånga and Sundsvall. The company is a family business, now in the hands of the third generation.

In-house production, research and development

More and more of our products are in house developed. Manufacturing takes place in our own premises or is subcontracted to Swedish and foreign suppliers.

As one of the major players in our sector, we are in the forefront of technological development. Dafo invests major resources in product and method development, and has several patented products and unique designs.
